

School Transition Reporting Bullying

In some cases of bullying, incidents will need to be reported to the police. Your child's school can help you learn more about mandatory reporting.

However, you can also get advice on what to do from the following websites:

*Helpful Resources

Get Help Now | National Centre Against Bullying

Provides helpful information on reporting bullying.

Youth Law Australia

Provides free legal information to children and young people in Australia

*Other free legal advice services

ALL STATES

Youth Law Australia, \(02\) 9385 9588

Find a community legal centre near you by using this directory

QUEENSLAND

Youth Advocacy Centre for children aged 10-18, (07) 3356 1002

VICTORIA

Youthlaw for children and young people aged under 25, (03) 9113 9500

WESTERN AUSTRALIA

Youth Legal Service for children and young people aged under 25

Call Perth (08) 9202 1688 or Regional 1800 199 006

NEW SOUTH WALES

Children's Legal Services for children under 18 involved in criminal cases, 1800 101 810.

The Australian Human Rights Commission (1300 656 419) also has a

complaints handling service that may investigate complaints of discrimination, harassment and bullying.

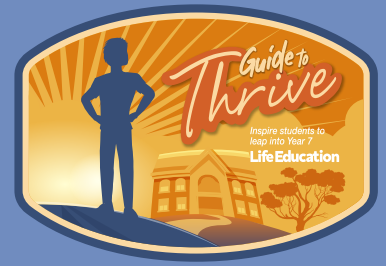

*If you need to report incidences of racist bullying:

All Together Now has a number of helpful resources in your state and territory

*If you need to report incidences of bullying related to sexual or gender diversity, these resources can be helpful:

LGBTQ+ Bullying - BulliesOut

LGBTQI+ Youth | StopBullying.gov

School Transition Help Services for Children and Adults

If your children have been bullied or witnessed others being bullied and need to talk to someone, tell them they can contact:

Kids Help Line (1800 55 1800).

Kids Help Line is a free and confidential, telephone counselling service for 5- to 25-year-olds in Australia

If you need help, you can also talk to a Parentline counsellor. Parentline counsellors are trained to help you deal with any parenting problem, big or small.

Parent Helpline | How Parentline Can Help You | Kids Helpline

VICTORIA

13 22 89

TASMANIA

1300 808 178

NEW SOUTH WALES

1300 130 052

AUSTRALIAN CAPITAL TERRITORY

(02) 6287 3833

NORTHERN TERRITORY

1300 301 300

QUEENSLAND

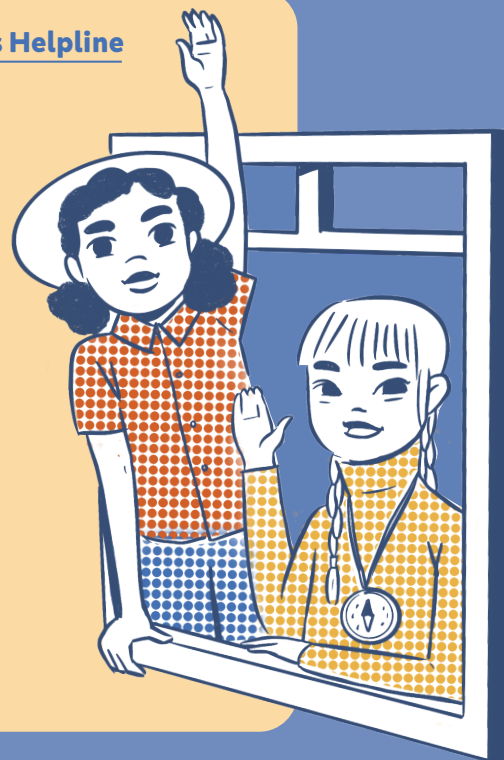

1300 301 300

SOUTH AUSTRALIA

1300 364 100

WESTERN AUSTRALIA

(08) 9368 9368 or 1800 111 546

If you or your child needs help with mental health:

Lifeline (13 11 14)

Lifeline is a free and confidential service staffed by trained telephone counsellors.

<http://www.lifeline.org.au>